NATURAL MYSTIC

Breathe deeply; Strawberry Hill, perched high above Kingston's Liguanea Plain, is a stunning collection of private colonial cottages dotting a mountaintop village that's nestled sleepily within a tropical Jamaican microclimate. Bob Marley claimed this elevated pearl necklace as his secret bolt-hole, perhaps for the spectacle of the shifting cloud formations that wind languidly through the mountaintops; or maybe it was for the local ackee and saltfish cuisine and the Blue Mountain coffee, made to be savoured on balmy verandas. We reckon it was this view, though, replete with the sound of the nearby waterfall and the subtle aromas from the wild fruit trees growing all around that sprung it for Bob. And, well, if it's good enough for Mr. Marley ... strawberryhillhotel.com
